Dear Dick,

Thanks once again for sending us copies of your latest publications. I am especially pleased to have Bill Holley's Ideas and Weapons, an authentic classic. These reprints seem to me eminently worthwhile, and a great service to all of us working in the field of defense and foreign policy.

It was good to see you last week, at Jack Kane's reception. Since then, last Friday in fact, I've heard that Doug Kinnard has resigned as Chief of Military History.

I meant to tell you last week that I very much appreciate your offering me a seat on the Colorado Springs Express next week. I look forward to seeing you then.

Sincerely,

/s/ J. Kenneth McDonald
